Our Stance on Animal Testing

Crafter's Choice Brands and Wholesale Supplies Plus do not test on animals for products they manufacture and are against animal testing. We are committed to partnering with organizations to find safe and effective testing alternatives to establish product and consumer safety. As a distributor of ingredients and additives used to create finished products, we are unable to certify any maker's finished product in which our products have been used, combined or altered in any manufacturing process as we do not have the ability to verify what other ingredients are added post-purchase.
